

Dear Mr. Vernon,

I'm a technician with a company in El Paso, Tx, and we use Pow-R-Pak prespray majority of the time. So with my experiences with the pretreatment, on various occasions I have witnessed the prespray penetrating stains all by itself. Ex. I had a customer who wanted a walk rug clean that was in her hallway (high traffic area) and that was all. So as I got my equipment set up, I noticed I was not getting any shampoo through the line, just water, and the problem could not be resolved at the immediate time, so I informed the customer of the situation and said I need to at least rinse the prespray out of the rug. And that's when I saw Pow-R-Pak become an incredible cleaner. And thanks to that incident the customer was satisfied and appreciated our company more.

Thank You
